Going Deeper in “Thinking Like Jesus”

Read the following a few times:

1 Cor 2:1-16; Prov 2:2-7; Col 2:8; Deut 6:2-9; Rom 12:2

Reflect on the following:

1. What shapes the way you see the world most right now? (Social media, news, friends, work culture, family expectations, faith?)
2. How did Jesus consistently challenge the way people defined: success, power, righteousness, and who matters?
3. Think of someone Jesus saw differently than everyone else (a sinner, outsider, enemy). What does that teach us about how Jesus interprets people?
4. Why do you think “what feels right” is such a powerful guide for decision-making today? What does it get right—what does it miss?
5. What's the difference between “what feels right” and “what is faithful”? Can you think of a time when those two conflicted?
6. V 12 contrasts “the Spirit of God” with “the spirit of this world.” What are some worldview beliefs our culture treats as unquestionable?
7. When have you realized—after the fact—that you were thinking more like the world than like Christ? What helped you recognize it?
8. What does it mean practically to say, “We have the mind of Christ”? How is that different from simply trying to imitate Jesus' actions?
9. What might change in our relationships if we asked, “How does Jesus see this person?” before reacting?

Spiritual Challenges:

1. The Pause-and-Pray Challenge - For one week, whenever you face a decision—especially one that feels emotionally charged—pause and pray: “Jesus, how do you see this?” Don't rush the answer. Notice what changes.
2. The Lens of Christ Practice - Choose one person you struggle to understand or agree with. For seven days, intentionally ask: “How might Jesus see this person?”
3. The Daily Re-Orientation - Once a day, pray: “Jesus, help me think with your mind and see with your eyes today.” Pay attention to what shifts—especially in how you see people.
